DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 54-73 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Naieni et al (5,484,896) or Dutkiewicz et al (5,834,095) in view of Moore et al (EP 252650).

Naieini et al and Dutkiewicz et al disclose crosslinked cellulose fibers having water retention values in the range claimed used in making absorbent products (column 11 and 1 respectively) as disclosed and claimed but are silent as to dry and wet twist count. Crosslinked cellulose fibers of the type disclosed in the references are desirably characterized by twists or curls and are an important feature in obtaining optimal absorbency, wet resilience and structural integrity see page 5, lines 24-45 of Moore et al. It would have been obvious to obtain the claimed dry and wet fiber twist counts as Moore et al teaches that the claimed twist counts are highly beneficial to the absorbent product made from crosslinked fibers, page 5.

Dependent claims are obvious matter of choice using well known materials used in making absorbent article from cellulose fibers.
